Statement on phishing email and fraudulent website

Bank of China (Hong Kong) Limited ("BOCHK") would like to alert its customers and the general public to phishing emails purported to be sent by Bank of China (Hong Kong). The phishing email claimed to be sent out by Bank of China (Hong Kong) <mesq@ messaunique.asia> requests customers to click the embedded link and access to the following fraudulent website:

http://vigona.com/hk/netbanking/netbank/prelogon/logon/cn.htm

With the design similar to the official Internet Banking login page of BOCHK, the fraudulent website intends to steal customers' personal data, such as Internet Banking account number, login password and the one-time password sent to customer's mobile phone. BOCHK declares that it has no connection with the phishing email and fraudulent websites. Meanwhile, the case has been reported to the Hong Kong Monetary Authority and the Hong Kong Police Force.

Customers are advised not to click on the link in the phishing email. Under no circumstances would BOCHK send out e-mails or SMS messages containing embedded links to the logon page of BOCHK Internet banking, or call customers asking them to call back or log into any website/Mobile Banking to provide or verify their personal information (including their passwords). Anyone who has logged into the webpages and provided his or her personal information should immediately call BOCHK Customer Service Hotline (852) 3988 2388 (press 4, 1 and 1 after language selection).
